EDITORS
Natalie B. Cole

ASSOCIATE EDITORS
Christopher Clason, John Corso, Sherman Folland, David Garfinkle, Laila Guessous, and Brian Murphy

ADVISORY BOARD
Brian A. Connery, Ronald Cramer, Brian Goslin, Frank J. Lepkowskia, Karen Markel, Karen Miller, Kevin Murphy, and Susan Wood

MANAGING EDITORS
Sherry Wynn Perdue, Director, Oakland University Writing Center
Pamela Mitzelfeld, Associate Director, Oakland University Writing Center

EDITORIAL ASSISTANT
Ashley Liening

Statement of Purpose: The Oakland Journal is meant to serve three purposes: 1) to provide an open forum for university people to get to know each other’s work and creative energies; 2) to provide a marketplace of ideas that will work to the general benefit; and 3) to provide a beacon to students on the importance of writing and a place for them to achieve their first publication.

Advice to Authors: We prefer articles from Oakland University faculty, staff, students and alumni. Generally, articles should be 15 double-spaced pages or fewer. Email submissions if possible. Deadlines are July 1 for the fall issue and Nov.1 for the winter issue. We invite submissions concerning research, creative work, material that would be of interest to other OU people and our neighbors, and that which will enhance intellectual exchange and discussion for the benefit of Oakland University.

Editorial decisions are made in consultation with associate editors. Submissions should be sent in Microsoft Word format via U.S. mail to Managing Editors, Oakland Journal, Writing Center, 212 Kresge Library, Oakland University, Rochester, MI 48309 or by email to TOJ@oakland.edu. We prefer email submissions.

Getting a Copy: Copies are provided without charge upon request to all Oakland University faculty, staff and students. Others may purchase a copy for $3.50. Full time faculty and administrative level staff receive each issue automatically. Current or previous articles are downloadable at the journal’s website archives, http://www2.oakland.edu/oujournal/.

Funding Support: The Oakland Journal is made possible by generous support from the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.

Copyright 2012 Oakland University
CONTENTS

How Does a Gangster Regime End?
The Uprising in Syria 5
by Don Matthews

An Entanglement: Ancient Texts, Old Marginalia, and Contemporary Art 18
by Andrea Eis

The Things We Buried 32
Two Poems 35
by Jennifer DeBellis

Everyone Goes to Hollywood 38
by Pamela Mitzelfeld

Stem Cell Research—Promise and Potential 46
by Christina McKee, Christopher Lucier, Sumi Dinda, PhD, Ferman Chavez, PhD,
Anne Mitchell, RN, PhD, Charles Shanley, MD, Mick Preze-Cruet, MD, and
G. Rasul Chaudhry, PhD

The Responsive University: A Cautionary Tale 58
by Susan M. Awbrey

“Talk” Drawing Series
Artist’s Statement and Images 73
by Lynn Galbreath Fausone “Slender firm strokes of the pen”:
The Unspoken Words of Women Writers in Edith Wharton’s Fiction 77
by Elizabeth Frazier

Steven Pinker Speaks at Oakland University 86
by Paul Kubicek

Roaring Twenties, Troubled Times:
Writers’ Impressions of Detroit 91
by John Cohassey

My Bicycle Is Getting Taller 101
by Brooke Biaz

Art Review: Clinton Snider at Suzanne Hillberry 110
by John Corso

Medical Matters: Medical School in Year One: Case #1 114
by Lauren Mecca

Notes from the Dismal Science:
A Beautiful Economics Story:
A Review of Grand Pursuit 119
by Sylvia Nasar
by Sherman Folland

Contributors 129