

First Summer Session

PS/WGS311

Women and Politics

Starts May 5
Tu/Th 6:30-9:50 p.m.
Will meet in Varner 479

Instructor: Julie Walters, J.D., Ph.D.

Come join us for a fascinating course where the roles of women in the American political system are examined using a broad lens embracing social and historical considerations. We will discuss myriad policy issues such as economic equity and health policy and cover associated interest groups. In addition, during coverage of the fight for suffrage in the United States as well as the modern women's movement we will view/discuss the film "Iron Jawed Angels." We will also read and discuss Charlotte Perkins Gilman's Herland and its relevance to both historical and modern socio-political contexts.

Now is the Time to Register! Come and Join Us!

Tu/Th 6:30—9:50 p.m.
